I absolutely can't believe that the cruise ships still dump waste into any ocean. They should not only be fined but kept from entering the waters where they have been dumping wastes. Give them a few months to think about it and clean up there acts. It's beyond my comprehension that they think it's Ok. It's shameful and take the ships out of all oceans and rivers if they persist on ruining the waters. I am speechless really. Beyond horrified. So a bunch of humans can go have fun.
