

William Crane

If the Pandemic over the past year has taught us anything, it should be that we need to change. We need to change the way we do things by taking others into consideration. That includes, importantly, our natural environment and the wildlife as well. If we continue to spew toxins into the waters, poisoning and polluting, then we will continue to destroy our world and ourselves. Is this the world you want for future generations? Is the profit margin a viable trade for our existence?