

Michael Monroe

Cruise ship travel is a luxury by any definition. If travel by cruise ship does any significant damage to the environment, we should either remediate that damage or ban cruises. In the particular case, we must ban scrubbers because of the havoc they wreak upon orcas and Chinook salmon. It's that simple.