

Nancy Iannuzzelli

Our oceans are the basis of life on this planet. To continue to add to its pollution is unconscionable particularly when one realizes that millions of ocean animals are dying from ingesting plastic pollution as well as all the other chemicals that are dumped into the ocean.