

Evelyn Bittner

Cruise ships must be carefully monitored and regulated to ensure that there is no harm to our waters or jeopardy to or marine wildlife. Banning procedures and equipment that harms our waters is one measure that will preserve the health of the environment for humans and all creatures.