

Scott Lisonbee

Wow!!! No absolutely not!!!

I should not be amazed by the audacity of the power you are attempting to wield with this proposal. First full disclosure I do not have any livestock at this time. I have in the past (not at my current property) raised cow's, pigs and chickens so I do have real world experience on how to provide for myself and others. I expect that none of those who thought this up have any idea how to feed themselves or families and therefore must stop those who do.

I also suspect the current world view for a growing number of government officials is that "we the citizens " are seen as surfs peasants or subjects for the government to beneficently grant us privileges as they see fit. Never mind that pesky Constitution it is so old fashioned and we will just do as we please. What does our governors buddy Klaus say "you will own nothing and you will be happy " .

Good luck with your quest to crush us. You might want to ask the Dutch government how that is working out for them.