

Robert Gordon

The agricultural community is the backbone of this nation along with the trucks that get the products moved. to incorporate small land owners and hobby farmers into the CAFO program would destroy the ability of these people to be profitable. The fact is in most cases they break even and get nothing for their time after expenses in most cases. To add more regulation, land use restrictions and imposing more fees and fines will put the nail in the coffin for most at a time when costs of operations are high and consumers are paying a premium in the grocery store. The end game is bad buisness for everyone.
