

Lacie Rotella

Including small hobby farms and animals owners in CaFo will be devastating to local small operations. With inflation and cost to keep animals in todays market the vast majority have already been forced to quit operations and including this to the list of monumental hurdles small animal operations have had to overcome in recent years this will be the straw that breaks the backs of so many. Which will negatively impact the local food supply.