

Jon McAninch

Your CAFO rule changes are overreaching and threatening especially to small producers, and illustrate no specific scientific justification for the need or how violations will be determined. There are no limits or parameters as to the broad discretion Ecology staff would have as what constitutes pollution or their ability to fine someone for their perceived violation. There is almost certain disproportionate harm to small producers and I object to these CAFO rule changes.

Jon B. McAninch
Cedarville Farms