

Robert Winslow

This rule should not be passed as the process has not been as transparent as needed, the pro and con effects have not been adequately analyzed, the costs to landowners are likely to be significant without a demonstrated significant benefit.