

Lorena Herron

The Green River deserves designation as an Outstanding Resource Water. I'm a long time resident of Clark County, Washington. As such, I've become very aware of the importance of this river in supplying drinking water, boosting local economies, and providing wildlife habitat. The Department of Ecology should designate the Green River as an Outstanding Resource Water so that my children, grandchildren, and I can enjoy this river for years to come.