

Deb Jones

The Department of Ecology should not designate Type iii waters without full transparency to the public regarding economic, recreational and environmental impacts especially regarding the effects on forest management practices.