

BURT GILLELAND

Based on a third party lawsuit to Ecology, the consent decree agreed to by Ecology was to present a clause in the permit requiring that every contractor, delivery person, etc. either be 100 percent supervised or go through storm water training. As written, this clause requires that you will either 100 percent supervise the fedex guy, ups guy, every truck delivery guy, the letter carrier, etc that enters your site or assure that they are trained. This is impossible in most businesses delivery people do not deliver on a schedule how could you possibly supervise them every customer I am all for keeping the water clean but normal business cannot operate like the government its to expensive.
