

Kim Bartell

I think this is another example of overreach. Are you going to include big corporations and government facilities in this plan? Are you going to determine livestock is an issue and have landowners get rid of their livestock? Who is going to be responsible for expensive solutions for infractions? An already overtaxed landowner? This is a bad idea.

I request that you extend the date for comments as some people are just finding out about this.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.