

Robert Schricker

I appreciate and support the objective of protecting water quality across Washington. However, I am deeply concerned that the draft 2025 Nonpoint Plan gives Ecology sweeping authority over private landowners—often based on hypothetical or "potential" pollution—that undermines property rights and lacks clear boundaries. I urge revisions to ensure due process protections, regional flexibility, and respect for voluntary, collaborative approaches.