

Michael Siptroth

I fully support expanding stream widths for riparian zones. The current zone widths are not adequate and should be enlarged to ensure better tree cover, thus cooling streams. Larger riparian zones also better protect from run off and help as fire buffers. Larger riparian zones will help a host of wildlife which assists forest regeneration and health.