

RENEE BREALEY

Fish are dying and washing up on shore. A beautiful largemouth bass that lived under my neighbor's dock for many years washed up on shore the other day. We are used to seeing little dead fish every once in a while, but this year, they are washing up every day. Animals are getting stuck in the mud and dying, somebody's peacock got stuck in the mud and died. This is so sad to see all these animals and fish dying when it is preventable. For the sake of our environment, fish and animals, PLEASE STOP TAKING OUR WATER!
