

Pillip Norman

This is not an energy project in service to any local users deserving of state respect. The project imagined is purely is purely a forbidden export scam. Public commons are exploited and ruined forever, so that greedy investors in charge of a theft, may sell buried treasure for personal profit. The treasure of stored energy has value for all but those greedy, only if kept in the ground, undisturbed. Sensible people will put an end to fracking ruin. A livable planet for our deserving descendants, requires that we, now, learn to live responsibly.