

Edward Belcher

Fracking the gas, leaking it for transport, then producing methanol which is then shipped overseas to be used to make plastic is dirty, unhealthy and harmful at every step of the process. Permits for this project must be denied.