

William Falk

This project would easily be one of the worst polluters in our state. The Kalama Methanol project is an environmental disaster in the making. This project will rely on an enormous amount of fracking to provide gas to make ethanol. This would be a catastrophe for the climate.

This project makes no sense financially or environmentally. I strongly object to this project and urge our NW policymakers to oppose it.