>> Hello my name is Anastasia prize anime 25-year-old youth climate activist working with sunrise PDX and 350 PDX out of Portland. And I just cannot fathom why in a time like this, as the previous commentator just noted, our entire coastline is on fire, the effects of climate change are just beyond undeniable at this point and talking about a project that needs to exist in order for just other companies to pollute less is just asinine. The only way forward is to not build places like this. We don't need a single bit more of plastic in our oceans looking every single bit of marine wildlife.

I mean we are about to enter a point in history where we have more poundage of plastic in our oceans than we do real fish. We cannot subsidize and keep making these changes happen for jury ways of fuel. The only way forward and the only way to save our way of life is to not pander to these companies that are just unaccepting of the damage that they are doing. We can only invest in green electric, alternatives. There is just no way around this. We cannot keep polluting the planet and justifying that this is an okay project to make on the banks of the river that we know will call innumerable damage. Just do what is right if you have any shred of decency and you. I'm done.
