

DeeAnna Holland

I actually live just a few minutes away from the proposed location which means I will have to experience whatever pollution and damage this facility will create. It was bad enough growing up across the river from an active nuclear power plant and the daily threat that it could fail, I would rather not live with another ticking time bomb minutes from my house.