

Tika Bordelon

please respect the environment and other species that call this area their homes. humans need to learn how to exist with nature rather than try to control it. please stop polluting our fragile earth.