

Allison Ostrer

>> ALLISON: Great I will be brief, my name is Allison roster I live in Seattle and I am a voter and tax pair and the irony of having this meeting.

The stated purpose of this Kalama is to ship fossil fuels to Asia and already drowning in plastic. We really don't need more.

I don't want more. Regarding the use of offsetting coal as a dying industry, its use will continue to fall without approving the Kalama project and stating we should approve it quote unquote to reduce coal use is the last gentleman was talking about. I think was disingenuous, misleading and false. I guess all use of fossil fuels for their life when we don't need to do that. I want Washington to create more clean energy companies and not, slightly less dirty if we ship the numbers just right companies. And the chance to have a major impact on reducing fossil fuels and on saving the environment. This industry needs our coast so we can say no to this project and have a direct impact on plastic pollution and climate change. This is a rare opportunity to think globally and acted globally by rejecting the project.