Hello,

I am a Woodland WA resident. I work for a construction contractor in the pipefitting industry and have done so for 25 yrs. I have to weigh the pros and cons of building such a plant on the Columbia River. Pros- Possible short term employment for myself during the construction. A few long term jobs for locals. A huge amount of revenue for corporations and a foreign country. Cons- Environmental hazards to the surrounding river, air, and to our climate. I think I'll strongly opt for the second. It's time to stand up against climate change deniers and greedy executives. Is money REALLY more important than life as we know it? Think about it.
