

Bonnie Miller

Let us do the least damage. We need to think of the importance of the area to the future generations who will not want to deal with the environmental damages we could do in this project. Protect and conserve.