

Larry Hewitt

Unbelievable. Damming the Chehalis raises its unsustainable head every few years while both Chehalis and Centralia continue to build in the flood plain. Haven't we learned anything about damming salmon rivers? We should be removing dams and restoring habitat and not pretending our hatchery programs offset the damage done by dams.
So much for growth management.