

Sheryl Krohne

I am totally opposed to any dam on the Chehalis River. Dams destroy river habitat, ruin fish migration, and stagnate water so that downstream the river and delta areas deteriorate. Wildlife, water quality and human life quality are all degraded, sometimes killing entire populations of fish, and mammals. The state should be removing dams not building them. People should not live on flood plains. Active flood plains are essential for soil health, and healthy water systems. I travel to the area to recreate on the river and hike paths in the area. Leave it alone! Please don't build any dam on the Chehalis River.