

john stanley

Any actions taken must be designed to protect the fish population (salmon and steelhead). Their numbers are already challenged by a myriad of manmade issues, not the least of which is the effects of climate change. The proposal is yet another impediment.