

Pamela Miller

Please do not build the huge mega-dam. It will be devastating to salmon and steelheads. Salmon travel back to their place of birth to spawn. If they can't get there it not only hurts their populations, but it also stops the fishing which brings so much economic prosperity to the area. Dams have been added to other migration routes and once the dams were removed the salmon started to return within hours. Don't make this mistake. You can use more modern proven flood solutions to protect the people, land and fish.
