

Shann Jones

The design of the Chehalis River Basin Flood Damage Reduction Project appears to be similar to the proven Chena River Flood Control Project (USACE) near North Pole, Alaska. The Chena River Flood Control Project has protected the City of Fairbanks and Fairbanks North Star Borough for over 50 years, with minimal impact to fisheries and wildlife.

This project should be allowed to proceed and be scoped and designed.