Even after years of opposition, a proposal to dam the free-flowing Chehalis River is still kicking around Washington State.

I'm telling the Department of Ecology to end this failed idea—one that could cost $2 billion, harm salmon and steelhead runs, hurt our fishing economies, and siphon funding from bigger-picture solutions. We can do better.

Chehalis Basin residents need modern, proven flood solutions that protect people, the land, and salmon—not a massive, untested dam.
