I am writing to express my concern about the proposed dam on the Chehalis River. As I understand it, a dam would harm fish (salmon and steelhead) and their spawning grounds at a time when their existence is threatened. It is expensive, but future costs for maintenance and so forth are not provided for. I understand there are safety concerns related to the geology of the site. Flooding is, of course, a problem but I would urge the Department of Ecology to consider other solutions.
