

Beowulf Brower

There is no universe where it makes sense to build a goddamn on this river. If someone decided to build a farm on a river that floods frequently, that's their problem. Whoever proposed this should have their house filled with largemouth bass.