

Valerie Weiss

Building a dam is the wrong answer environmentally for the ecosystem. Wildlife, fish, especially salmon would be adversely affected. Restoring flood plains can make a huge difference and requires far less funding. Let's care for what is left of nature and it's occupants.