

Terry Jess

end this failed idea—one that could cost $2 billion, harm salmon and steelhead runs, hurt our fishing economies, and siphon funding from bigger-picture solutions. Dam removal and restoration of damaged areas is also costly, but the restorations bring life! Promise and healthful solutions to drowned communities. Why pursue development destruction and drowning for a few dollars more. Extinctions are forever. Dams are ignorant and baseless unimaginative one-dimensional constructs of the ego(s).