

Colleen and Joe OMeara

The Chehalis dam is back... and even bigger and more destructive. The latest proposal could cost close to $2 billion—with no good plan to pay for it. It's 2026. We all know that dams aren't the answer—not when we have modern, proven flood solutions that can protect people, the land, and salmon. Instead of moving ahead with this dam, we need to take into account the many adverse ramifications to the land, water, and our wildlife.