

Ryan Krapp

To whom it may concern,

I can appreciate the desire to protect the loss of property and infrastructure; however, we have had a terrible track record of building in unsuitable and unsustainable areas. Let's not perpetuate the human damage to natural ecosystems by building more in inappropriate areas within a watershed. Common sense should prevail and us do things to remove ourselves from mother nature's natural and most productive areas (valleys, riparian areas, fertile farmlands, not double down and do more harm. No to dam.

Sincerely,

Ryan Krapp
