

Janice Wilfing

The proposed dam would permanently damage one of Washington's last free rivers putting salmon and wildlife at risk and destroying irreplaceable habitat. Address flooding risks by investing in better, science-backed non-dam flood solutions, such as restoring floodplains and strengthening local infrastructure.