

Sierra Bleakley

This is a crude example of human wants over earthly needs. The right for orcas to pass without any man made object interfering is detrimental for our environment. Orcas play an important role in salmon and fish passage as well as keep the whole ecosystem afloat.