

STANLEY LANGLAND

Our governor recently spoke in Mt. Vernon about the positive benefits of a flood retention structure protecting the downtown area. It would be good to have an explanation why flood prevention structures promoted by Patty Murray in Skagit County are so highly regarded while a project accomplishing similar goals in Lewis and Grays Harbor counties is not.