

Sarah Anderson

Please do not proceed with damming one of the few free flowing remaining rivers in the State of Washington. The 2 billion dollars that this would cost can be used for other flood mitigation measures while protecting the livelihood of local tribes. What a disgrace and environmental tragedy this would be.