

Margaret Haldane

Having reviewed the related documents, I cannot see that the stated purpose for the project justifies the negative impacts on the environment. Degradation of fish populations numbers as well as genetic changes, soil stability, water quality, habitat and the general environment outweighs the possible value of managing floods, which are by nature unmanageable.