

Art Hasson

A dam is not the answer. It will harm native fish populations including salmon. It is far better for everyone to create wetland areas along the river beds that can absorb excess flow before it harms populated areas. Some towns can update their drainage systems in addition to creating new sponge city infrastructure for less than the cost of a dam.