

Chelsea Tossing

I'm writing to oppose the Chehalis River Basin Flood Reduction Project, and specifically the construction of a flow-through dam. Salmon are a keystone species whose health is critical to our riparian areas; dam construction damages habitat and threatens salmon runs, posing significant consequences for the entire ecosystem.

The science indicates that dam construction is devastating to habitat health; the Chehalis River Basin Flood Reduction Project offers a short-sighted solution while causing long-term damage.
