

Joan A Julius

I am concerned about the miles of river bank the will be stripped bare to build a retention area. Because this is "flow through" the river banks on both sides will not be covered by a lake. Just our normal amount of rain will create a large amount of dirt run off into the river. This will effect fish passage. Bare dirt banks will also increase the possibility of mud slides into the river.