

James Mulcare

The anadromus fisheries is already facing a dangerous decline in Washington and the entire Northwest. To dam another river would add an additional impediment to the fisheries already challenging recovery. Please consider the long term ramifications of this ill conceived project.