

Peggy Butler

Flooding on the Chehalis is certainly a problem but this dam is not the solution. It may not even solve the problem. There are significant tributaries that have contributed to the flooding. The size of the dam and the costs are huge. Your own evaluation indicates that there will be irreversible harm to coho, chinook and steelhead.

There are better ideas out there to reduce flooding.