

Nick H

A lack of holding accountability for TransAlta here among the many instances in which the SEPA process has failed local communities and Washingtonians. Do not issue this permit and do not issue a MDNS. Carbon lock-in is a dangerous trend in the retrofitting of powerplants from coal to natural gas. A just transition away from fossil fuels is necessary. So much funding was dedicated to transitioning the local economy and supporting workers only for the transition to stop short of transitioning.