

Maribelle Cardens

Closing the Centralia power plant significantly cuts air pollution and helps fight climate change by ending coal use. However, the region must replace that electricity and create new local jobs to prevent power outages and economic hardship.